TRAINING FOR TEACHERS AND EDUCATORS: POWER OF PERSONAL STORIES IN CONFRONTING OBLIVION

The training "Power of personal stories in confronting oblivion" will focus on the importance of biographies and personal stories as tools for countering denial and distortion of historical facts connected to the Holocaust and other genocides and mass crimes committed during WWII.

25 teachers and educators from formal and non-formal fields will have the chance to learn new methods, exchange best practices, enrich their curricula and develop new contacts with colleagues and members of civic society organizations.

The training is organized as part of the project "Power of Personal Stories in Confronting Oblivion (PPSCO)", funded by the European Union through the programme CERV - European Remembrance.

After the training:

With the support of the organizers, the teachers and educators involved in the training will implement one of the learned methods with their students, in their local schools and communities.
